Spendthrift Farm

A visit to Spendthrift Farm in Lexington, KY, is a must for horse racing enthusiasts, offering a chance to see some of the most legendary stallions in the industry. Known as the home of top sires like Into Mischief, the farm has a rich history of producing elite racehorses. Guests on the tour can explore the beautifully maintained property, learn about Spendthrift's innovative breeding programs, and even get up close to some of the world's most successful thoroughbreds. The guided experience provides insights into the farm's legacy, which dates back to the early 20th century, and how it continues to shape the future of horse racing.

One of the highlights of the visit is witnessing the stallions in their paddocks, where guests can appreciate their power and elegance. The farm also offers an inside look at the breeding shed, explaining the intricate details of thoroughbred breeding. With its scenic landscape and a chance to see famous horses in person, Spendthrift Farm is a premier destination for any horse lover visiting Lexington. Whether you're a casual fan or a dedicated racing enthusiast, the experience is both educational and awe-inspiring.

Spy Coast Farm

Spy Coast Farm, located just outside of Lexington, is a premier facility specializing in breeding and training top-quality sport horses, particularly in the disciplines of show jumping and eventing. Unlike the traditional thoroughbred racing farms in the area, Spy Coast is renowned for its world-class breeding and young horse development programs for warmbloods. Visitors to the farm can explore its state-of-the-art training facilities, rehabilitation center, and foaling barns, getting an inside look at how elite equine athletes are prepared for international competition. One of the highlights of a visit is witnessing young horses in training, where their agility and athleticism shine. The farm's commitment to excellence and innovation makes it a unique destination for equestrian enthusiasts.

2-hour shuttle Tour (12 passenger buses, less walking)

10:30am, Monday, May 12 only

$40 per person, 12 people max.

Stonestreet Farm

Jess Stonestreet Jackson's passion for horse racing was ignited as a young boy when he watched from atop his favorite uncle's shoulders as Seabiscuit won the 1938 Bay Meadows (SF) Handicap. Many years later Jackson, by then a prosperous attorney and entrepreneur, achieved global acclaim as a winemaker, and the success of his Kendall-Jackson Wines afforded him the opportunity to indulge his passion for Thoroughbred racing at the highest level.

Stonestreet Farm, best known as the home of legendary racehorses like Rachel Alexandra and Curlin, offers visitors an immersive look into the world of elite thoroughbred breeding and racing. Nestled in the rolling hills of Lexington, the farm is dedicated to producing future champions with a focus on careful bloodline selection and exceptional horse care. Guests on a tour can see the mares and foals in lush pastures, learn about the meticulous process of raising a racehorse, and even visit the training facilities where young prospects begin their careers. With its rich legacy and continued success in the sport, Stonestreet provides a fascinating glimpse into the making of champions.

1 hour walking Tour
